

Nick Wobbrock
Co-Founder and Partner

Nick has a background in engineering, sustainability and business with an emphasis on cost effective infrastructure evaluation and business models for conservation. Prior to joining Blue Forest Conservation, he worked at the Nature Conservancy, as a consulting engineer for Brown and Caldwell, and managed water and sanitation projects for the US Peace Corps and Doctors Without Borders. Nick presently sits on the Board of the International Rural

Water Association where he continues to support communities in Honduras he knows and loves from his days in the Peace Corps.